1. Policy Context and Rationale

Guiding pupils at St Paul's through their teenage years is a task parents, tutors and teachers all share. To support our pastoral care, we offer PSHE (personal, social and health education) in the curriculum, and invite parents to a series of seminars and panel evenings on themes relating to adolescence.

PSHE covers aspects of development (confidence, empathy, judgement, independence of thought and action, appropriate behaviour, anti-bullying, personal safety, healthy lifestyle, sex and relationships, substance abuse) and provides factual information about a range of topics (finance, living away from home, insurance, the law, types of government and the UK Parliament, policing and one's rights, drink driving, drug driving).

This policy and the PSHE curriculum has been produced with reference to DfE and PSHE Association guidance, particularly 'Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) and Health Education' (updated September 2021). This policy also considers the requirements of the Equality Act 2010.

St Paul's recognises that consultation is important in the creation of a successful PSHE Programme. This policy has been created in consultation with other colleagues from the Biology, PSHE, PE, IT and Moral Philosophy departments. Other staff were invited to comment on the policy electronically following a brief overview of the PSHE and RSE Programmes at a staff meeting. Colleagues that teach PSHE are regularly invited to feedback on our provision using standard PSHE association feedback forms. Parents were offered the opportunity to comment on updates to the school's PSHE provision including schemes of work and example materials during a consultation on our PSHE and RSE provision in September 2020. These consultations are ongoing whenever significant changes to this policy occur. Finally, pupils are offered the opportunity to feedback on our provision through the school's whole school surveys.

This policy supplements and should be read in conjunction with the following school policies:

- SPS Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) Policy
- SPS Spiritual, Moral, Social and Cultural (SMSC) Policy
- SPS Mental Health and Wellbeing Policy
- SPS Child Protection & Safeguarding Policy

2. Policy Availability

This policy is available on the Handbook page of the School Intranet and policies page of the School website and can be made available in large print or other accessible format if required; such requests can be made by email to the policyquery@stpaulsschool.org.uk

3. Policy Aims and Objectives

At St Paul's, we recognise the importance of a pupil's personal and social development, and their health and mental wellbeing; as such, the PSHE Programme seeks to:

- Understand how to recognise and promote their emotional and physical wellbeing
- Develop their understanding of themselves, their ability to use critical thinking to make informed decisions, and their assessment of the potential consequences of their choices on themselves and others
- Be encouraged to engage with and understand issues which are appropriate and relevant to them at the different stages of their development
- Understand how to support one another and themselves as they grow and learn
- Be encouraged to explore, consider and understand moral and ethical dilemmas
- Learn about topics of a sensitive nature without fear of judgement, stigma or embarrassment
- Develop the qualities and attributes needed to thrive as individuals, and as members of their family, their School and wider society
- Be able to make informed decisions based on tolerance, a respect for and understanding of difference and with an absence of prejudice such as racism, sexism and gender bias; and to react appropriately to different situations
- Be aware of and have respect for their social and political environment, enabling them to become informed citizens and independent contributors to society
- Learn how to stay safe and recognise dangers and avoid exploitation, bullying and abuse
- Understand how to act responsibly online for the protection of themselves and others
- Be aware of the dangers of radicalisation and extremism and how young people may be drawn into these ways of life, so that they can avoid such exploitation; in conjunction with Prevent duty guidance

PSHE is very much a "live" subject which encourages us to respond to particular events and circumstances that occur both within our community and beyond. The ways in which pupils and staff treat each other throughout the School, at all times, should exemplify the messages delivered formally and informally through the PSHE syllabus and beyond. PSHE is integral to all that we do and is not limited to any one area of the curriculum.

4. Creating a Safe and Supportive Learning Environment

The school recognizes that the nature of PSHE lessons means pupils may share information which would not ordinarily be discussed in other lessons. Where possible, this information should be treated sensitively and in confidence. However, teachers should never promise unconditional confidentiality. Instead, teachers should be clear about which circumstances would require them to pass on information. If a pupil offers information that leads a teacher to have a safeguarding concern, normal child protection procedures should be followed in line with the Safeguarding and Child Protection Policy.

Teaching materials used in PSHE lessons are ordinarily approved by the PSHE association and/or created by other PSHE providers such as 'Chameleon', 'Creative' or 'Brook'. All materials are reviewed by the Head of PSHE and DH (MH, WB & LS) before being used with pupils. Materials are standardised across the department. Those delivering the course are required to first read teacher guidance documents which ensure safe delivery of content. This includes the establishment and renewal of 'ground rules' at key stages of the PSHE Programme, including at the start of each new pupil work pack.

a. Responding to Pupil Questions

The school will ensure that pupils are able to ask questions in a way which is safe, appropriate and, when desired, anonymous. Ordinarily, this takes the form of an anonymous survey on Google Forms shared with pupils in their Google Classrooms. Submissions to this form are monitored at the weekly PSHE department meeting and appropriate responses circulated.

If an anonymous question raises a concern of a safeguarding nature, this should be immediately reported to one of the school's Designated Safeguarding Leads.

5. Entitlement and Equality of Opportunity

Schools are required to comply with the relevant requirements of the Equality Act 2010. Under the provisions of that Act schools must not unlawfully discriminate against pupils because of their age, sex, race, disability, religion or belief, gender reassignment, pregnancy or maternity, marriage or civil partnership, or sexual orientation. Schools must also make reasonable adjustments to alleviate disadvantage and be mindful of the SEND Code of Practice.

The school can take positive action where it can be shown that it is proportionate to deal with particular disadvantages affecting one group because of a protected characteristic. For example, the school could take positive action to support LGBTQ+ pupils if there was evidence they were disproportionately being subjected to bullying, abuse or harassment.

The school shall seek to be aware of contemporary issues such as 'everyday sexism', misogyny, homophobia and gender stereotypes and will take positive action to build a culture where these are not tolerated and any occurrences are identified and tackled.

St Paul's is committed to ensuring that PSHE is relevant to our pupils, and appropriate to ability, social and cultural background, religion, sexual orientation, as well as physical and emotional needs. We are aware that in some situations pupils, parents or guardians may have concerns about the School's PSHE provision. The School will take such concerns seriously and seek to resolve them in a constructive manner which puts the welfare and education of the pupil first.

a. Pupils with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND)

The school will ensure that PSHE is accessible for all its pupils. The school's SEND Policy includes information on the 'Roles and Responsibilities of Teachers' that all colleagues, including those leading PSHE, are expected to be aware of. Those teaching PSHE have access to the school's Learning Support register and are expected to make adjustments as suggested by the Learning Support Team.

The school is aware that some pupils are more vulnerable to exploitation, bullying and other issues due to their SEND. Such factors will be taken into consideration in the delivery of PSHE. Where a pupil is known to be especially vulnerable, PSHE staff will be briefed by a member of the pastoral team and suitable adjustments made if required.

Pupils, including those with SEND, will never be withdrawn from PSHE to catch up on other national curriculum subjects. The school believes that their personal and social development is as important to all pupils as their academic achievement

b. Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender (LGBTQ+)

In teaching PSHE, St Paul's will ensure that the needs of all pupils are appropriately met and that all pupils understand the importance of equality and respect. The school will ensure that teaching is sensitive and age appropriate and will fully integrate discussion of LGBTQ+ issues into all relevant parts of the broader RSE and PSHE curriculum. RSE and PSHE will be fully inclusive and relevant to those who identify as LGBTQ+.

6. Teaching and Learning of PSHE

a. Principles and Methodology

In teaching PSHE, the School will seek to consider the different starting points of the pupils involved; all are likely to bring some prior knowledge, understanding and/or experience to the topics being discussed. We will determine this prior knowledge by providing regular opportunities for self-assessment during the taught PSHE curriculum.

Research shows that attempts to scare or shock young people into making a healthy choice rarely work and can indeed 'backfire' by inadvertently creating excitement, curiosity or even status among pupils who accept the risk. This does not mean that potential consequences of the lifestyle choice should not be made clear, but the School believes balance is important. For example, young people frequently overestimate how often their peers take part in risky behaviours and feel that they are the 'odd ones out' if they do not do the same. The School believes it is important that pupils are reassured that most young people make positive, healthy lifestyle choices.

The School believes it is important pupils can make links between the content they cover in their PSHE lessons and their ‘real-life’ experiences. The PSHE Programme will seek to highlight and overlap with other parts of the School curriculum and tie in with events occurring in the wider world.

b. Curriculum

An overview of the PSHE topics studied in each year can be found in the graphic below. The full curriculum, with individual lesson titles inclusive of lesson objectives and the lesson materials used, can be found on the PSHE Department intranet site and in the appendix. All pupils receive the equivalent of one timetabled PSHE lesson per week.

c. Assembly Programme

At certain times of the year (and where appropriate) assemblies and year group events may be linked to the PSHE Programme. Examples include an extended assembly to Fourth Form pupils every year from a local Police Officer about personal and online safety and ‘themed assemblies’ timed to coincide with national events or campaigns (e.g. Black History Month, LGBT Awareness Month, Mental Health Awareness Week, etc...)

d. Teaching Responsibility and Staff Training

Overall responsibility for the PSHE Programme lies with the Head of PSHE.

PSHE teaching in the School is delivered by members of the extended PSHE department who receive appropriate training to carry out the role. The Head of PSHE oversees the creation and approval of all materials, offers appropriate training, and ensures opportunities for reflection on practice. Extensive teacher guidance is included in all teaching material to ensure it is delivered in a safe and consistent manner.

CPD training is provided for all staff teaching PSHE, and this can either be delivered internally (for example 'facilitation training') or by external consultants (for example Brook's 'Traffic Light Training Tool').

e. External Speakers

The School believes external speakers, who can use their own expertise and experience to enrich pupil's learning, are a valuable part of our PSHE provision. Where external speakers are invited to talk, the Head of PSHE will agree with them in advance the learning objectives and outcomes of the session. St Paul's staff will always be present to make sure the learning is safe and appropriate. Where external speakers have not been used before, testimonials will be sought from other schools. All external speakers are required to be registered on the schools Visiting Speakers register.

f. Assessment

Assessment in PSHE should not be about passing or failing but it is nonetheless important that teachers and pupils are able to understand what has been learned, and how learning and understanding has progressed: All of our PSHE materials have clear aims and objectives which are communicated to pupils. Opportunities for indirect and informal assessment are built into all PSHE lessons

All pupils complete PSHE pupil packs that include opportunities for reflection and self-assessment for each lesson. These pupil packs are reviewed by their PSHE teachers and 'effort' grades provided to parents in line with the school's normal grade cycles. In addition to 'grades', parents receive a generic PSHE report in line with the normal calendar explaining the topics their children have been studying.

7. Spiritual, Moral, Social, Cultural (SMSC)

PSHE plays an important role in the Spiritual, Moral, Social and Cultural development of our pupils, including but not limited to:

- Developing a sense of self-knowledge, self-confidence and self-esteem through small group lessons, conference days and seminars
- An awareness of what it means to be part of a society, collective responsibility, democracy and types of government
- Exploring social and moral dilemmas, helping pupils to distinguish from right or wrong, and respecting the rule of law
- An appreciation of and respect for their own and other cultures, for example, issues of disability, racism, sexism and homophobia
- Encouraging respect for other people, with particular regard to the protected characteristics set out in section 4 of the Equality Act 2010:

The Spiritual, Moral, Social and Cultural Education Policy can be consulted for more information about our pupils' SMSC development.

8. Promoting British Values

Since September 2014, schools are required actively to promote certain British values.

The idea of "fundamental British values" was coined by the Prevent strategy in 2011. It was introduced into the Independent School Standards on 1 January 2013 and this was supported by non-statutory advice dated November 2013. Further amendments were made to the Standards in September 2014 and supplementary information and advice dated November 2014 have now been issued to support these additional changes.

The four key values are:

- Democracy
- The rule of law
- Individual liberty
- Respect for those with different faiths and beliefs

These fundamental British values are reinforced throughout the PSHE curriculum and are covered explicitly in the 6th form unit on British Values and Citizenship.

9. Relationships and Sex Education

From September 2020 schools will be required to deliver RSE education in accordance with the published statutory guidelines.

The majority of our RSE curriculum is taught through the broader PSHE curriculum.

The Relationships and Sex Education Policy can be consulted for more information about our pupils' RSE development.

10. Involving Parents and Carers

St Paul's is committed to working with parents in providing the PSHE Programme. At an appropriate point in the Autumn term, and before any pupils commence RSE teaching, parents and carers are written to with an overview of the PSHE Programme and an invitation to review the curriculum (which can be found in the Appendix to this Policy on the department intranet page) which contains, amongst other things:

- Information about PSHE lessons, seminars, assemblies and events for all year groups.

- Details of seminars and panel evenings for parents

Guiding pupils at St Paul's through their teenage years is a task parents, tutors and teachers all share. To support the link between parents and the School, we invite parents to a series of seminars and panel evenings on themes relating to adolescence. Details of these events are found on the PSHE intranet page, but previous examples include:

- Parents seminars by an external expert, Julie Johnson, on key themes such as 'Managing the Teenage Years', 'The Party Scene' and 'Sexual Awareness and Behaviour'.
- Parent workshops linked to talks heard by pupils in school. For example, The RAP Project offers information evenings for parents of Fifth Form and Lower Eighth pupils, in conjunction with the talks which they give to the pupils in those year groups. The parents' sessions are designed to aid discussion between parents and their children about the issues raised.
- Panel evenings held in the summer term for parents of Fourth and Fifth Form pupils. These are open meetings with a panel of professional and School representatives: the panel usually consists of Julie Johnson (one of our key external speakers at both our pupil and our parents' seminars), one of the School Counsellors, the Undermaster of the year into which pupils will be going the following September, and a member of the PSHE team. Parents can talk about either general or specific issues which concern them: the panel evenings are good opportunities for parents both to hear the expert guidance of the panellists and to share experiences.

Parents do have the right to withdraw their children from certain parts of Relationships and Sex Education curriculum which forms part of the wider PSHE Programme. Details of how to exercise this right can be found in the school's Relationships and Sex Education Policy.

The School is required to consult parents and carers in the development of its Relationship and Sex Education policy which forms part of the broader PSHE curriculum. Details on how this consultation occurs can be found in the school's Relationship and Sex Education Policy.

The most up to date version of the school's PSHE curriculum will be held on the department intranet page. For convenience, the curriculum at the start of the academic year is included as an Appendix to this policy. The school reserves the right to make minor and appropriate edits at any time. Parents have the right to view the current scheme of work and any of the material St Paul's uses in PSHE lessons. Ordinarily, this would be via arrangement with the Head of PSHE during a virtual or face to face meeting.

11. PSHE and Safeguarding

The School wishes to maintain a specific focus on how children may be taught about safeguarding, including online, as part of a broad and balanced curriculum. Almost all parts of the PSHE curriculum contribute to pupils developing the skills needed to reduce the risk of harm, including online, and to recognise the signs of danger.

At the start of each unit, pupils are provided with pupil packs that include a range of internal and external sources of information and advice, including a list of people and organisations they can contact with safeguarding concerns. These always include the school safeguarding team and Childline, as well as information about how to make an appointment with the school counsellors. At the end of each lesson, pupils are reminded of where they can turn for further support relevant to the topic being discussed both inside and outside of school. Each unit begins with a discussion of 'ground rules' in order to create a safe learning environment for the pupils whilst encouraging them to reach out (potentially after the lesson) if they are worried about anything.

Many sections of the course deal explicitly with safeguarding issues not least those on Relationships and Sex education and E-Safety. In addition, all new fourth form pupils receive a separate unit on 'Safeguarding' in the first half term of their time at St Paul's. The basis of this section is the PSHE associations 'Something Isn't Right' materials developed in consultation with the Home Office. The objectives are for pupils to be able to:

- Recognise rights everyone is entitled to in different relationships, including family, intimate relationships and online
- explain when, why and how to report abuse and access appropriate support
- analyse challenges to seeking support and evaluate support available to overcome barrier

In their first term, all pupils also receive a lesson on personal safety while at school. This lesson, delivered with the input of the school's Police Liaison Officer, has a focus on street safety, theft and staying safe online.

12. Monitoring the Effectiveness of PSHE

Pupils are offered the opportunity to feedback on the school's PSHE provision during the school's regular whole school surveys and PSHE specific surveys in years when the whole school surveys do not occur.

Where PSHE is delivered by subject specialists, the Head of PSHE is responsible for observing classes to ensure standards are being met. PSHE teachers are offered the opportunity to feedback on our provision using the standard PSHE association monitoring survey.

13. Policy Review

The Head of PSHE is responsible for reviewing this policy annually or at any time determined by the release of new guidance or statutory requirements from the Department for Education.

Appendix – PSHE Schemes of Work and Lesson Objectives

Note: The Schemes of Work are accurate for the start of the academic year but occasionally lessons will be added or edited to meet the needs of the pupils. The most up to date version of the curriculum will be held on the department intranet page that parents can view on request at any point.
